Hayley:

Please find attached the materials you requested.

Though I have already applied through GreatAgain.gov, I'm attaching my CV here as well. Also, my firm-issued Form K-1 is the best source of annual compensation information, so I'm attaching those forms from tax years 2012-2016.

Warm regards,
Patrick

Patrick,

I wanted to reach out and introduce myself as the Deputy White House Liaison at the US EPA. I just left you a voicemail and thought that I would follow up with an email. I understand that you've been in contact with Ryan Jackson regarding a potential political appointment. I was hoping that you could complete the attached documents to help move the process along. One document requests your 5-year salary history. In support of this, please also send some sort of proof, such as a previous pay stub.

Also, if you have not already applied at GreatAgain.gov, please go to <https://apply.whitehouse.gov/> and apply there.

Let me know if you have any questions as you complete these and I'll be happy to help. Thanks!

Biography

Companies around the world have turned to Patrick for twenty years to represent them in environmental enforcement cases and to conduct their most sensitive internal environmental compliance investigations. Thorough preparation, efficient case management, straight talk, an even temperament, and above all, a focus on his clients' business objectives cause his clients to value Patrick as a trusted advisor. In addition to his courtroom experience in federal district and appellate courts, his clients find that he is particularly skilled at fashioning negotiated settlements where litigation risks prove economically unattractive.

In addition to his litigation practice, companies in the energy sector turn to Patrick to secure project-critical air quality permits for the construction and expansion of their most complex facilities. He has supported tens of billions of dollars' worth of projects at refineries, petrochemical and fertilizer plants, LNG export terminals, coal- and gas-fired power plants, coal mines, and bulk materials terminals. Clients value Patrick's team-based approach to integrating business, technical, and legal perspectives to develop effective and innovative permitting and project development strategies. This permitting practice provides the depth of experience that is crucial to representing companies effectively and creatively in environmental litigation.
